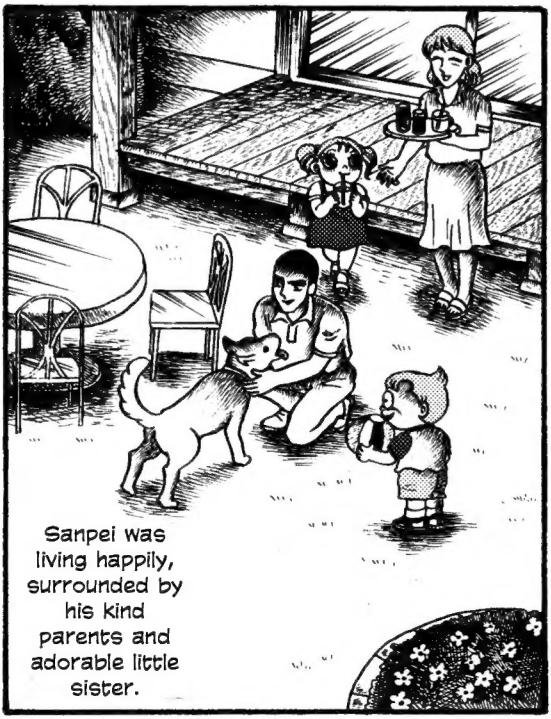
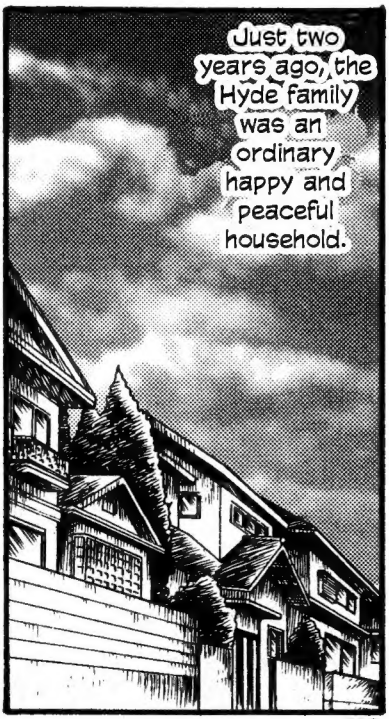
In a myriad of ever-changing forms.
The beast appears in different forms based on his emotions.
And it explodes with negative emotions, destroying the objects of those feelings.
It always kills the targeted humans or animals...

But, why did this gentle boy, turn into such a terrifying monster? It's all tangled up in a hellish incident.
HELL



Sanpei was living happily, surrounded by his kind parents and adorable little sister.



Just two years ago, the Hyde family was an ordinary happy and peaceful household.

Sanpei! Don't give up!
Mako! You're doing so well!

His younger sister, Mako disappeared.
Then one day, in their peaceful neighborhood...
そこから すべての地獄が始まった!!

A few days later, his sister's body was discovered.

We are at the site where the body of Mako Hyde was discovered. But, who is the culprit...
ガヤ

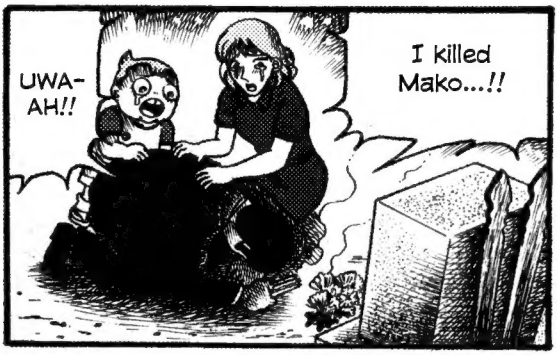
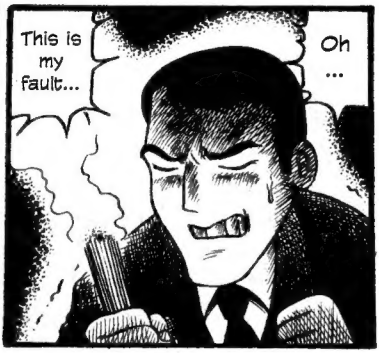
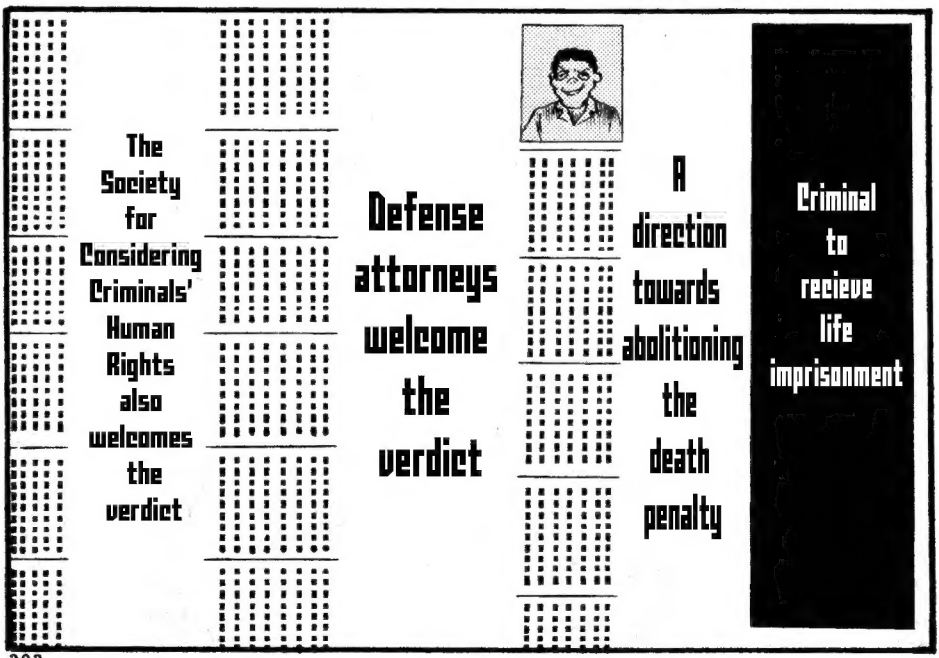
The culprit was a thief that had been arrested years ago by Sanpei's father.
The motive for the murder was revenge against Sanpei's father.



UWA-AH!!
I killed Mako...!!

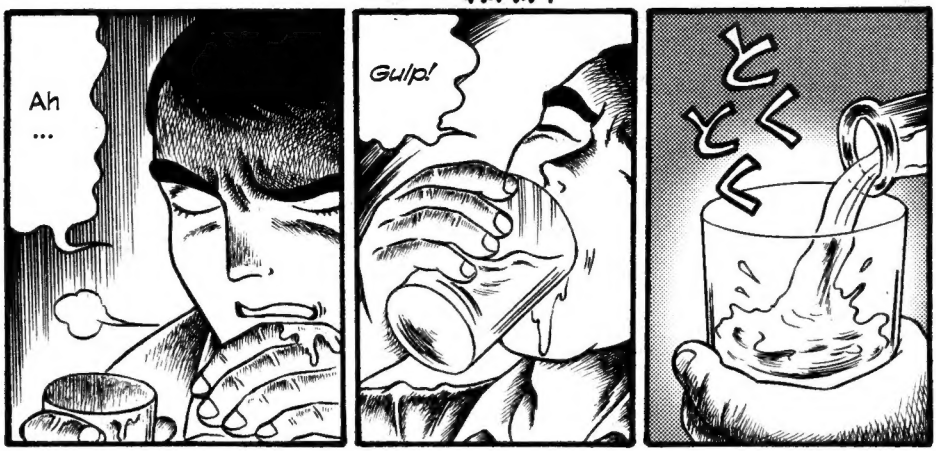


This is my fault...
Oh ...

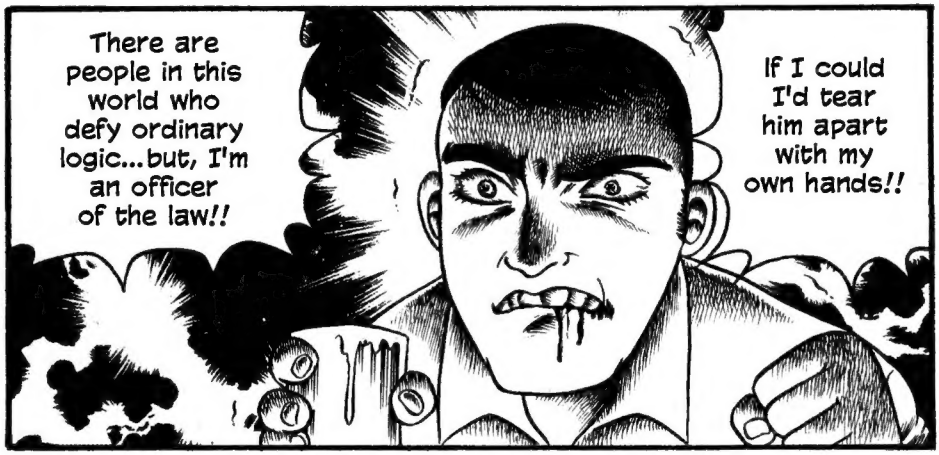


The Society for Considering Criminals' Human Rights also welcomes the verdict
Defense attorneys welcome the verdict
A direction towards abolitioning the death penalty
Criminal to recieve life imprisonment

What human rights should murderers have?! Human rights!!
Idiots!!
What about Mako's right!? She was killed!!
D... Dear...!!
From a human rights perspective, this will lead to abolitioning the death penatly...



Ah
...
Gulp!
とくとくとく



There are people in this world who defy ordinary logic...but, I'm an officer of the law!!
If I could I'd tear him apart with my own hands!!

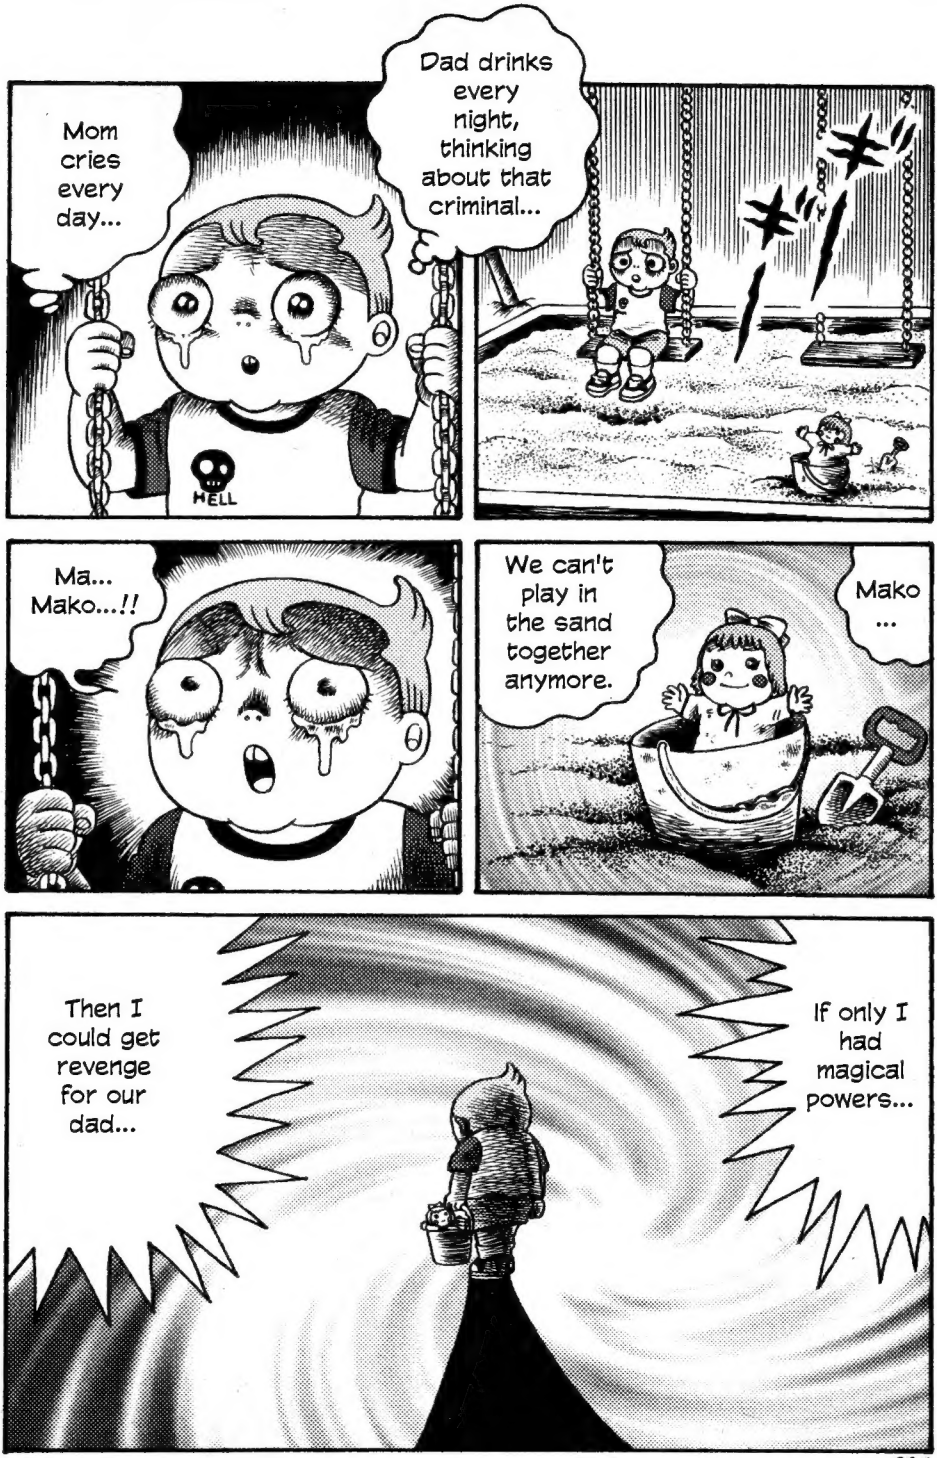
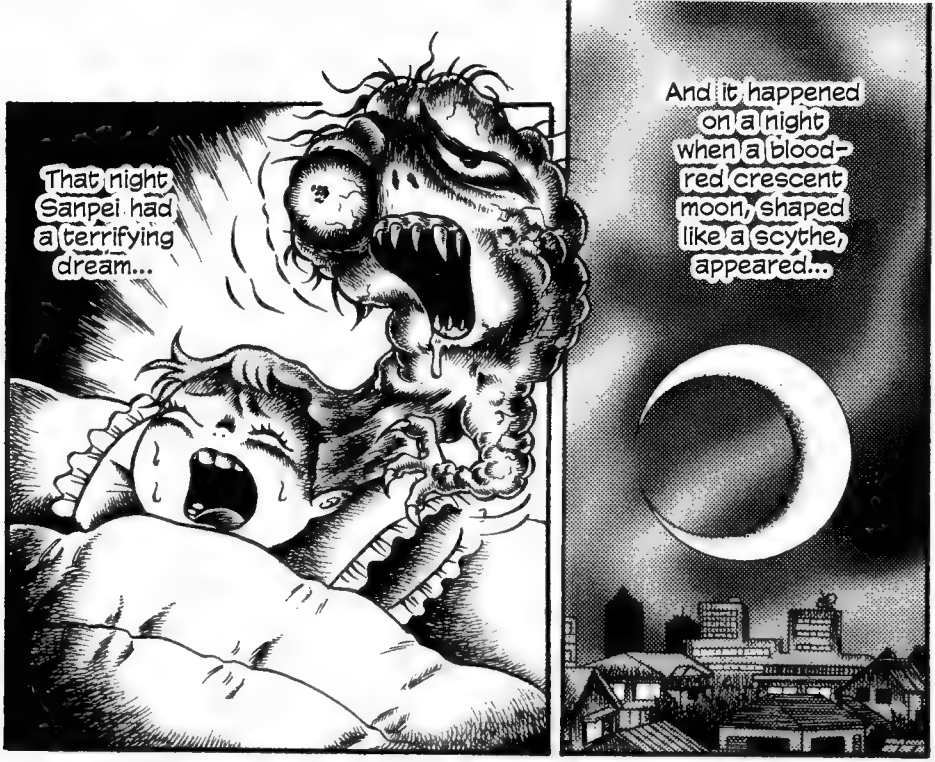
HELL

Even when we catch them we don't have the autority to judge them!



Mom cries every day...
Dad drinks every night, thinking about that criminal...
HELL
Ma... Mako...!!
We can't play in the sand together anymore.
Mako ...
Then I could get revenge for our dad...
If only I had magical powers...



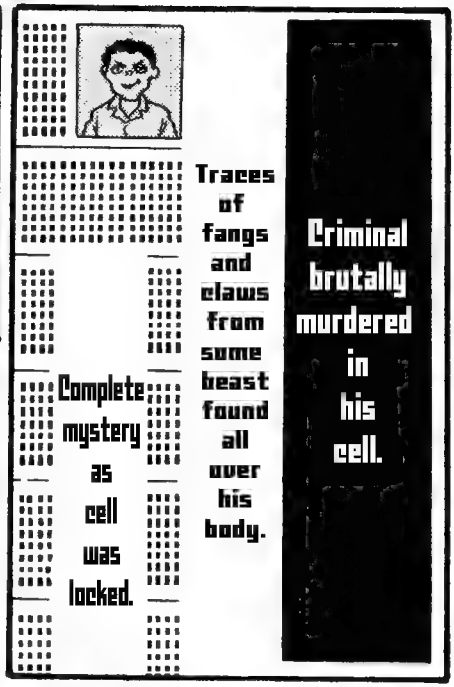
That night Sanpei had a terrifying dream...
And it happened on a night when a blood-red crescent moon, shaped like a scythe, appeared...

In the dream he turned into a horrible monster and attacked and devoured the culprit who had killed his sister.

Was it... a dream...?
Waa...!
BLOOD!!
BI ...
AH!

Witnessed an unidentified monster fleeing...
Some of the guards...

This is the prison where the perpetrator was being held.



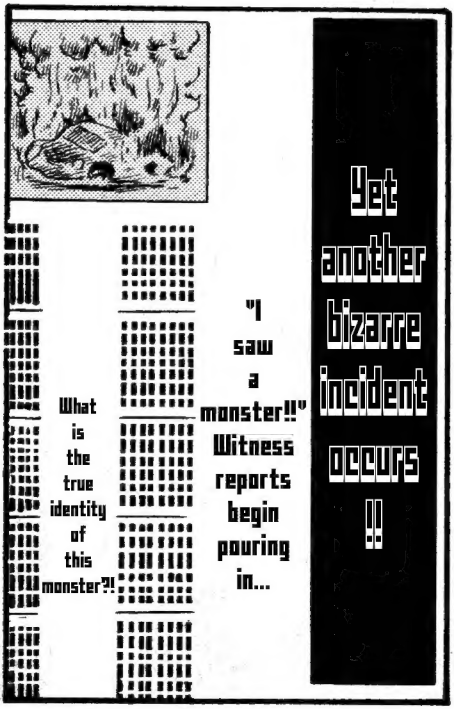
Criminal brutally murdered in his cell.
Traces of fangs and claws from some beast found all over his body.
Complete mystery as cell was locked.

...

Th-this is insane...?!

D-dear!!
What on Earth happened ...?!

Once this hellish creature had tasted blood it burrowed deep within the boy's body...



Yet another bizarre incident occurs !!
"I saw a monster!!" Witness reports begin pouring in...
What is the true identity of this monster?!

And as had been mentioned...

The monster caused incident after incident

To be honest, whoever avenged Mako...but I'm a police officer...!!
It has to be the same thing that killed Mako's murderer...
I can't just let this go...I need to know who is doing this!!
...and so hell began...

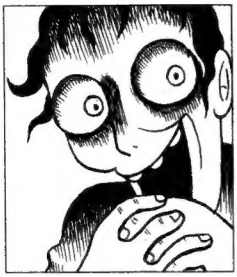
Causing anguish and torment for young Sanpei...
And within the boy the monster lurked...
And uncover its true nature...
His father sought to capture the monster.
A story of conflict between a father and son, tossed about by a cruel and sorrowful fate, is about to unfold...
A terrifying hell, born from the tragedy of a father who lost his daughter and a boy who lost his sister...

Chapter 2 / The End

[SPECIAL FEATURE] My Nightmare



By Hideshi Hino

Previously, I wrote about my fear of heights.
But to tell the truth, I also suffer from claustrophobia.
When you put those two fears together...it becomes really troublesome.

I once lived on the 11th floor of an apartment building. So of course, to get to the 11th floor, I had to use the elevator.
But I'm also afraid of elevators.

The 11th floor is pretty high up, so of course the building is really tall. That meant the elevator shaft was also deep, and riding in the elevator filled me with terror.

And so...In my dreams, the elevator would suddenly break down and keep rising endlessly, past the 11th floor, heading into the sky itself..."Stop...stop already!" "Damn!! I shouldn't have gotten on this damned elevator in the first place...!" Just when I thought it was hopeless, I would wake up in terror.

I had that dream dozens of times.

In the end, I gave up using the elevator entirely, no matter how troublesome it was, and forced myself to use the stairs to climb up to the 11th floor. Finally I moved out of the apartment and soon after that, I stopped having those nightmares.
